During the course of his lecture he will introduce for illustration some magnificent stereoscopic views. Prof. Simmons (whose stage name is "Semo") is thoroughly up in the subject he handles, and the people of Eliton and vicinity can not fail to appreciate the lecture of this gifted magician.

Gus Thomas' "The Burglar," which held the boards at the Madison Square theatre, New York, part of one season, and made a most emphatic hit, has been secured for one night here.

The play is one of absorbing interest and the opening scene is laid in the home of opulence, showing the daily intercourse between the united members of a refined family, and only marred by the young husband's too frequent absence. Into this peaceful existence a thunder-clap falls, in the shape of the discovery that the husband's mysterious disappearance has developed into the knowledge by some of the household members of a dual life on his part. He is at one and the same time a reputable member of society and a famous burglar. To avoid discovery and the shame coming to his wife's knowledge he is permitted to escape, and eventually comes the news of his death. The wife and mother, under this belief, marries again, when it is discovered, too late, that the news was false, and that the burglar still lives and is intent upon a series of house-breaking crimes. At one of these times he unconsciously enters the home of his former wife. A series of dramatic episodes, swaying the emotions in their various phases, culminate in his recognition and pathetic parting after mutual explanations. The play is excellently mounted and performed by

GOOD POSITIONS.

A Nashville Institution of National Reputation.
Constant Applications for its Graduates from all Parts of the Union.
The attention of our readers is directed to the following which appeared in the Nashville, Tenn., Banner of recent date and which explains itself:
During the past week Draughon's Practical Business College has had, by letter, four applications for its graduates—one each from Texas and Louisiana and two from Kentucky. The applications were certified to by E. M. Foster Business Manager of the Banner, and published in our daily Prof. J. F. Draughon, President, will guarantee that he receives fifteen (15) times more mail regarding his college and calls for his graduates than any other business college south of the Ohio River, and we might say, in the Union. Five times more students are in attendance than any other business college in Middle Tennessee. It is the only business college known to us that does not use a textbook on book-keeping, and does not put its students through a copying course. Each short hand student is put through a practical course in J. F. Draughon's private office before diplomas are issued. The telegraphy department is headed by a practical operator of years' experience. All in all it is known as a "practical" institution. The business men throughout the Union know of these facts, hence so many applications coming in all the time, for its graduates. Prof. Draughon would be pleased to mail his 72-page catalogue free to any person interested in a thorough and practical education.
Below are letters received referred to above.
Remember they were all received in five days, which is only a sample of our mail:

Prof. J. F. Draughon, Pres.

Draughon P. B. Co., Nashville, Tenn.: We have an opening for a lady stenographer, who has also had experience in book-keeping. If you have one that would take hold and be pretty certain to stick, we would be glad to hear from you at once.

with F. A. A. & Co.

Prof. J. F. Draughon, Pres.

Draughon P. B. Co., Nashville, Tenn.: Dear Sir: I may need a book-keeper by the 1st, can you supply one? Yours truly,
W. H. W. (merchant).

Prof. J. F. Draughon, Pres.

Draughon P. B. Co., Nashville, Tenn.: Dear Sir: We may need a book-keeper soon. Can you furnish us with one?

An Opinion Handled Down.

Not quite a year ago the Specific Oxygen Co., of Nashville, established a local agency in this city, making Mr. W. E. Foulke their agent. Since that time quite a number have placed themselves under the treatment and the opinion is universal that the patients have been greatly benefited. As a cathartic remedy, as well as for bronchitis, asthma, sore throat and consumption, the method of inhalation has been found to be the only conqueror of such troubles, and this method is gaining popularity every day. It has been further demonstrated of late that dragging the stomach will not cure these diseases, but simply aggravates them. There seems no good reason for suffering with such troubles when the means of relief and cure are at hand. In the Specific Oxygen Co.'s manual hundreds of testimonials are recorded where wonderful cures have been effected in a short space of time. This manual can be secured on application to the company, or Mr. Foulke, their agent in this city, at any time. If you are afflicted with any of the above maladies you should lose no time in trying the "Inhalation treatment." The price is reasonable and the results are marvelous.

He Explained It.

"Jones," asked one traveling man of another, "did you ever study natural history say?"
"No, I never did."
"Then you don't know anything about the habits of insects?"
"Nothing. Why do you ask?"
"Because I take an interest in those things, and there is one question that has been puzzling me for some time."
"What is that?"
"How do the wasps and hornets and other insects keep from freezing to death in the winter?"
"Why, that's simple enough; you never heard a wasp did you?"
"No, I never did."
"That accounts for your ignorance on the subject. If you ever had any experience with a wasp or a hornet you'd know right well that there was heat enough there to last two or three winters if need be."
"—Merchant Traveler.

Louisville's latitude is 37 degrees and 15 minutes and Hopkinsville's 35 degrees and 48 minutes. The difference is a little less than a degree and a half, but during the recent cold snap this difference saved us from six or eight degrees of frigidity.

Miss Ida Symmes and Mrs. Sue Phillips Brown, members of the Kentucky Ladies' Executive Committee of the World's Columbian Exposition, will be in Hopkinsville Thursday, Jan. 26th, for the purpose of forming a "Columbian Club." The ladies of the city are requested to meet them at the Phoenix Hotel.
Lambkin—"Doctor, I've a tightness on my chest, a tightness over my forehead." Doctor—"Yes, and your boots are tight, and your hat's tight, and you're no apt-tight. The fact is you were so tight yourself last night, that as long as you go on the loose you'll never be right and tight as you ought to be."

The gas went out in the Western penitentiary, Pittsburg, Pa. The inmates howled like wild beasts in the inky darkness and the warden was quite anxious all night, fearing an outbreak.

CREAM OF NEWS.

Fatal Duel at Meriton's.
Samuel Davis and William Webb, of Meriton's Gap, had a difficulty over a woman of that place Thursday night. Both men drew their guns and a duel ensued in which Webb was instantly killed and Davis had a finger shot off. The affair has created much excitement in the little village.
Meat House Robbed.
Burglars broke open the smoke house of Mr. James Wilkins, near Casey, last Friday night, and carried off about three hundred pounds of meat. The thieves left behind nothing by which they could be identified, and it is not likely that they will ever be brought to justice.
Dwelling Burned.
The dwelling house of Mr. John Long, who lives three miles north of this city, on the Madisonville road, was destroyed by fire at an early hour Saturday, together with its contents. The fire was caused from a defective flue. Mr. Long had no insurance on his property, consequently the loss falls heavily upon him.

A Would-Be Rapist Escapes.

D. E. Thompson, a young man living on the Cumberland River, near Canton, was arrested on the 14th inst., on a charge of attempted rape upon the person of Mrs. Nancy George, wife of W. L. George. The trial was to have taken place the following Monday at Canton, but the woman escaped from the constable just before court convened and has not been heard from since.

Robbed Near Cerulean.

Mr. James Moore, who lives near Cerulean Springs, was robbed of about $250 recently. Mr. Moore and his wife went over to a neighbor's where he helped kill hogs. The house was locked up and left alone. On their return late in the afternoon they found the house had been entered and robbed of the above amount, all the surplus cash Mr. Moore had on hand. The burglars left no clue as to their identity and this will likely be the last of it.

A Deliberate Assassination.

At Henshaw station, on the Ohio Valley railroad, a man named Van-elve went to the home of a neighbor named Renick one night last week, and calling him to the door shot him dead. The assassin then walked out upon the street and surrendered to the authorities. What led to the crime is not known, as the murderer refuses to talk. There is a high fever of excitement in the place on account of the shocking affair, and the talk of lynching is freely indulged in.

The Rope Gave Way.

Wm. Strachan, a patient in the asylum from Todd county, was seriously hurt Friday night while trying to escape from a third-story window. He removed a bar and was descending by a rope made of bed clothing when the rope broke and he fell to the ground. He was badly injured, but crawled several hundred yards up the pike and was found at Dr. Ware's residence about ten o'clock and returned to the institution. He is alive yet and will probably survive his injuries.

Central City Miners Strike.

The miners in the big mine located at Central City have struck for an increase in the price of digging coal. Three hundred of these laborers are idle and two hundred more refused to go to work Saturday morning. The compromise will not accede to the demands of these men and this means great loss to them. Some of them are drinking heavily and serious trouble is probable. Much inconvenience is felt by the L. & N., N. N. & M. V. and L. N. O. & T. railroads and the country for thirty or forty miles around, as they depend largely on that place for their coal supplies.

A tenor in a Brooklyn church often endeavored to cause fun in the choir by making droll faces at the other singers. There was one member of the congregation who considered his levity idiotic. In the collection basket he dropped a paper containing these words: "To the Pastor—The service would be much more interesting if you could persuade your tenor to act more like a man, and less like a monkey." The pastor handed the slip to the tenor, and since then, during service, his face has been as grave as that of a high-priced section.
—By a law of Richard II., of England (1388), abled-bodied beggars were punished and compelled to labor, and provision was made for the helpless. By an act of Henry VIII. (1530) licenses were given to indigent persons to beg within fixed limits, but unlicensed beggars were whipped and all persons giving alms to such forfeited ten times the amount given. In the reign of Elizabeth beggars above the age of fourteen were previously whipped, burned through the ear with a hot iron, and for the third offense were put to death. This regulation was repealed in 1598.
—Nearly three-fourths of all the cases of cholera in southern Russia, or in the region between the Caspian sea and the Black, have proved fatal. In St. Petersburg, where better sanitary conditions exist, over half the cases have proved fatal. In Hamburg the ratio of deaths in cholera cases has been nearly one-half, while in northern Germany, in Belgium, and in France, it has been about one-third. About eighty percent of the cases in Persia are thought to have proved fatal. A quarter of a million Persians are supposed to have perished by the Asiatic cholera this year.
—One of the most interesting exhibitions in connection with the recent Orientalist congress in London is a collection of tools used by workmen in building the pyramids of Egypt. They were gathered and are exhibited by the illustrious Egyptologist, Mr. Flinders Petrie. These articles indicate that ancient workmen had an astonishing acquaintance with many tools which we have been accustomed to consider essentially modern. Among the exhibits are solid and tubular corundum-tipped drills and saws, and circular saws and chisels described as "not a bit inferior to those now used."
